Y6 SATs

No doubt you will have heard a lot in the news last week about the tests sat by all Y6 children and how tricky they were and the negative impact it had on a lot of students. Let me reassure you that our Y6 were completely unphased by the event, they know how to keep things in perspective, they tried their best and moved on.

This is largely due to the help and support given to them by staff to make sure they are prepared, focused and most importantly calm. Starting each test day with a nice breakfast with your class mates is always going to help. In fact it was so popular that many of them turned up nice and early this week in the hope that it had become a regular thing.

Keep those bottle tops coming in.

Due to the KS2 SATs that were taking place last week, the usual star learner assembly had to be postponed. It will now take place at the end of this week.

KS1 SATs

Starting yesterday and for the rest of this week our Y2 pupils will undergo their Key Stage 1 SATs. They were very excited yesterday morning, as they got to sit in the hall like the Y6 did last week.

Y6 celebrate

Seesaw

Seesaw messaging now has set times where teachers will receive your message- this will be open between 8 and 5 each school day. You can send a message at anytime but it will only be able to be seen by the teacher within these hours. Class messages will only be used for educational purposes from this point.

Online safety

This week's advice sheet gives you some information about a messaging app similar to WhatsApp with a 17+ age restriction. Here's a little more you should know.

Tables master

Great to see so many of our Y4 pupils coming down and trying out for their times table master award. Like all Y4 pupils across the country, they are due to sit the national multiplication tables check in June and this is really going to help. Parents of Y4 pupils can find more information here.

School shoes

As the weather gets better and we use the field more, children are welcome to bring a pair of trainers to change into for break times. School shoes for lesson times please.
